J. E. Case claimed Lazell from H. G. Bedwell in whose colors he ran for $825. Bedwell took the horse from H. Tullett only recently by the bidding up process, paying $1,000 for him.

In the Call of the 16th appears the following:

following:

H. G. Bedwell filed a formal protest with the stewards yesterday against the claiming of his horse Lazell by J. E. Case the day before, alleging collusion on the part of Case with H. Tullett, the former owner of the horse. Immediately after Lazell was claimed Case turned him over to Tullett. Bedwell alleged that he had provided the cash with which Case had taken the horse from him. Case, in turn, alleged that not until after he had claimed Lazell did Tullett offer to take the horse off his hands. Judge Hopper said yesterday that Bedwell had not made out a case sufficiently strong to warrant the return of the horse to his stable, but further developments were expected
